Dear Glenn,

Ray and I remember the satisfaction we felt when Corey told us about his summer work possibility with Varsity. He seemed so sure that this opportunity was right for him even though he knew about it only from a dorm bulletin board notice. Having known the reputation of Thomas Nelson Publishing as a reputable Christian organization, his dad and I encouraged him to pursue the idea, and I thought to myself about how fortunate a company would be to have a candidate as hardworking and focused as Corey.

The reality that I did not know was the impact that the summer experience would have on his life and the contribution Varsity would make for his future. We will always be grateful for the expert training, positive role models, support, encouragement, camaraderie and business experience Corey will continue to benefit from. Of course we are extremely proud of Corey, but we firmly believe that success was achieved because of the right tools, challenges and leadership of you, Tom and many other committed Varsity bookmen. Ray and I sincerely thank you for the young lives you are impacting.

We are definitely excited about learning more this weekend and meeting many of the influential people in Corey's life.

*Sincerely,
Gail Cleek*
