Dear Sonny,

It has been a long time since I've communicated with you, but better late than never. Let me give you a brief update on what I am doing. I graduated from Louisiana Tech University with a Doctor of Business Administration Degree (D.B.A.) last year. I am currently working as an assistant professor of Management in the T. Boone Pickens College of Business at West Texas State University for the last two years.

The three summers that I spent with Varsity (and with you) gave me the experience, wisdom, and maturity in finishing the doctoral program and getting the job that I have now. Working with Varsity equipped me with the people skills which are absolutely essential for success in today's world. I am extremely grateful for the tremendous amount of mental, moral, and financial support that you and the Varsity organization gave me when I was in need.

In all the classes that I teach, I talk about "THE VARSITY EXPERIENCE" extensively because in my opinion they were some of the best years in my life. More important, they laid the foundation for my success. Maybe, if some of the Japanese politicians (who keep harping about the American work ethic) were exposed to Varsity's program they could learn a lesson or two about the American work ethic. Thank you and let me know if I can be any help.

Sincerely,

Dr. Suresh Gopalan
Assistant Professor of Management
