Dear Sonny:

Times have only gotten better for myself and my close friends Steve, George and Jim. We still believe in winning and in the profound lessons of the past.

Its summer again and as the heat rolls in so do memories of summer sales in sleepy country towns. In our conversations of late, your memory stands clear and so does the focus you put to our lives.

You're spoken of as the ever positive and generous man who had the time and wisdom to channel our energies in winning ways. Much because of your time and personal attention life has been a success for us all.

George is now an Air Force Captain and father of three, Steve is a prosperous Radiologist in Knoxville and Jim is a Missionary behind the Iron-Curtain. As for myself, I work for AT&T as an Account Executive and still love sales.

It's hard to pinpoint a specific time when a certain quality trait enters a young mans life, but one thing is clear to us all, that experience in the field was special and left us with the seeds of staying power, perseverance and a positive winning approach towards life.

If I had to put a dollar value on what the development of those traits have ment to me or will mean in the future I'm sure I'd be forever in your debt. I wanted to take this time to say hello, and that I hope your timely influence is still finding expression in the lives of those who want the best out of life.

Thank you again and God Bless You.

Respectfully yours,
