So you're thinking about selling books?

Let me assure you there is no better investment you can make in yourself and your future than to accept the challenge. The confidence and skills you learn on the field will last you a lifetime. You will learn people skills that you will use in every aspect of your life, with your family in your profession and as a future leader.

Your success will depend on your willingness go be teachable and follow the instructions given to you by the person who has invested in you. Trust me they want you to succeed in a big way!!

You have what it takes or they would not have recruited you to sell. If you're like me you may be a little on the quiet side but let me assure you. If you stay on schedule you will surprise even yourself!

It was always so much fun to see how at the end of the summer some of the people you didn't think would sell much blew a lot of people away. Why because they were smart enough to follow the directions and training they were given. Don't re-invent the wheel just spin that baby as fast as you can!
Once you start don't look back.

You will learn the importance of a good attitude staying on schedule and the ability to preserver in adversity.

The bookfield is like an emotional bootcamp! You have the rest of your life to use what you learn.

You are worth it and you can do it!

In Christ,

Kevin Snow
