

Glenn,

I was thinking about e-mailing you a little while ago. Your e-mail is a great reminder!

I wanted to thank you very much for your influence and impact that Varsity has poured into my life. To this day, I strongly recommend that college students go through the program. Initially, with the sales skills I learned, I obtained a job as a Telemarketer (now called Admissions Specialist) for Liberty's Distance Learning Program. After working there for over half a year, I was promoted to an Admissions Counselor. After being there for about a year, I was promoted again to the Distance Learning Program's Marketing Analyst (running reports and data analysis for directors in DLP). Lastly, I was promoted again about a month ago to the Data and Report Analyst for the school. I will be creating reports and analyzing data for various Liberty departments, outside agencies, accreditation boards, and the government (federal and state).

You have made a deep and profound impact in my life. Thank you.

Also, some big news... I have a girlfriend! We've been very good friends for a year and a half, but have only official started courting (after I asked her dad for permission) since June. However, since we had a long friendship, things are progressing nicely and now we are looking at rings. So, we're thinking sometime late next May or early June a covenantal bond may be created. We're both entering the Master's in Marriage and Family Therapy at Liberty and want to specialize in pre-marital counseling.

I think the world of you. You truly have a heart for developing people and I will never forget that. I plan on doing that for the people God allows me to be in authority over in my lifetime. You have blessed me incredibly and I wanted to let you know - I'm sure this has been a long time coming. I see from below that Varsity has grown... hallelujah! That's wonderful news. I pray that God will increase your influence and blessings as you continue to serve Him. I would love to hear an update of how you're personally doing if you make the time (not "if you get the chance"... because "the future belongs to those who prepare for it" <grin>). Again, thank you.

Eric Viets
Data and Report Analyst
Administrative Information Management
Liberty University
<http://www.liberty.edu>