Dear Glenn,

We would like to thank Thomas Nelson and Varsity Internship for making their summer sales program available to our daughter, Sherlive. It would be lying to say we were not apprehensive and full of anxiety when she first informed us of her decision to spend the summer away working for an organization about which we knew very little. In our seminary years and before, we had been familiar with the name Thomas Nelson, and that was all. We were like other parents – skeptical and full of questions. Our first meeting with you helped resolve some of those queries, and we agreed that this might be a good opportunity for Sherlive.

With prayer and anxiety we saw her off in May, still not completely certain of a positive experience. She and Varsity have proven our skeptical negative attitudes to be unfounded. During her experience, she learned more about being resourceful in problem solving and practical living than we may have been able to teach her at home. We were pleased and surprised by her new found maturity in August when she returned from the program.

During the summer, you and the newsletter, as well as Sherlive's weekly calls home, put our fears to rest. She is excited about the opportunity she has for another summer with Varsity.

If asked would we recommend this program to other parents, especially those of girls, the answer is yes. Varsity is a good solid venture, profitable for both young men and young women. Varsity cares about the young people they recruit for this program. We now feel honored that our Sherlive has been selected by Varsity to represent them in their internship program. It is a great opportunity for a young person to develop and mature.

Warmest regards in HIM,
Denny and Jamie Edens
